Land Use Direction

“Urbanization - Land price and availability are primary determents of urbanization. Municipal land use planning, regulations and incentives should be directed to encouraging urban development and greater land use density and efficiency.” Agree 14-3

“Urbanization - Plano should aggressively seek both job and housing growth. Plano can no longer outwardly expand and while existing neighborhoods must be conserved, the city should strongly encourage and incentivize urban development and redevelopment.” Agree 14-3

“Suburban Form - Plano's image and quality of life are derived from its suburban form. While some urban centers and denser development along regional transportation corridors are acceptable, Plano should retain its low-density suburban character.” Agree 9-8
Land Use

Plano Tomorrow Survey:
- Aging infrastructure is the most important challenge facing Plano
- Favorite places in Plano include: The Shops at Legacy and Downtown
- Adding a mix of uses to office parks was rated as a desirable option to ensure Plano is a strong, viable, and resilient city.

Proposed Plano Tomorrow Policy:
Plano will strategically promote and incentivize higher integration and efficiency of land use, in both new and redevelopment areas, while respecting the existing residential and business community, to provide greater housing and employment choices, reduce infrastructure costs, and support regional growth.

Urban Design Direction

“Placemaking - Urbanization not only provides expanded opportunity for housing and employment, it offers great opportunity for creating rich, walkable mixed use centers enriching the community’s visual character and quality of life.” Agree 14-3

Plano Tomorrow Survey:
What will improve the living and working environment of the city?

- Improving the appearance of the overall built environment (screening walls, street trees, lighting, sidewalks, building materials, etc.)

- Enhancing open space areas to encourage neighborhood interaction and pedestrian friendly activity
Urban Design

Proposed Plano Tomorrow Policy:
Plano will promote and incorporate unique and functional urban design components within all new developments, public spaces and streetscapes to enrich areas throughout the city, create distinctive visual character, and assure a citywide pedestrian-friendly environment.
Urbanization of High Intensity Corridors

Moved from Housing/Neighborhoods

Proposed Plano Tomorrow Policy:
Plano will encourage reinvestment, redevelopment and urbanization of identified high intensity transportation corridors to create mixed use developments that incorporate higher density housing, commercial and retail opportunities.
Undeveloped Land

Undeveloped Land Documents

• Redevelopment and Undeveloped Land Policies
• Rezoning Property to Meet Demand
Undeveloped Land Direction

“Conservative Growth – Plano’s undeveloped land must be reserved for only the highest quality development with a bias to business development offering high paying employment. Priority should be giving to neighborhood conservation and enhancement and business retention and expansion.” Agree 16-1

Plano Tomorrow Survey:
Survey respondents were asked to identify desirable uses for the city’s remaining vacant land. The results are indicated below (in order of preference):

- General and corporate offices
- Retail and entertainment uses
- Research and development businesses
- Special needs housing
- Agriculture

- Residential

Transit-Oriented Development

Transit-oriented development (TOD) is a mixed-use residential and commercial area designed to maximize access to public transit that often incorporates features to encourage transit ridership.

TOD Documents:
- Downtown Plano Vision and Strategy Update
Transit-Oriented Development Direction

“Balanced Mobility – Improving regional mobility is important, but the projects must be balanced with their impact on residential and business development. Plano and the region must increasingly rely on expanding transportation choices, demand management and trip reduction strategies to meet mobility needs.” Agree 16-1

Several sites were identified for future transit-oriented developments during the Map Exercise. These included:

- Future Spring Creek Parkway DART Station
- Future Cotton Belt 12th Street Station
